sea is calling

SNORKELING & SWIM

If the sea is calling, we answer with the sun.

The entire Seacsub industrial facility is now powered by renewable energy, thanks to a powerful new photovoltaic system.

This is our most recent investment in sustainability and comes on top of numerous other initiatives striving towards a sustainable future for all, such as re-shoring strategies and in-house production to reduce our carbon footprint deriving from transportation, our continuous research into new packaging with low environmental impact, and implementing company policies to reduce waste. After all, only by taking care of the whole environment and those who live in it can you claim to respect the sea.

Controlli di sicurezza sulle full-face mask SEAC

SEAC segue due principi fondamentali per la progettazione delle sue maschere da snorkeling integrali, le cosiddette full-face mask:

- l'impiego dello sforzo respiratorio da parte dell'utente deve essere il minimo possibile, paragonabile a quello naturale, fuori dall'acqua;
- il livello di CO2 residuo all'interno del facciale durante la fase di inspirazione deve essere ben sotto ai limiti di sicurezza.

Non essendoci ancora una normativa europea, SEAC ha sviluppato una serie di test specifici attenendosi ai valori previsti dalle seguenti normative europee:

- EN 1972:2015 stabilisce i requisiti per la progettazione e produzione di tubi snorkel, limitatamente agli sforzi respiratori;
- EN 16805:2015 stabilisce i requisiti per la progettazione e produzione di maschere per la subacquea;
- EN 136:2000 stabilisce i requisiti minimi per la produzione di maschere intere di protezione respiratoria, limitatamente ai test di controllo della CO2 nell'aria inspirata;
- EN 250:2014 relativa agli autorespiratori per uso subacqueo a circuito aperto ad aria compressa e ai suoi componenti, limitatamente ai test di controllo della CO2 nell'aria inspirata e relativa alle maschere full-face e mezze maschere per SCUBA diving.

Il test report ITALCERT sul tenore di CO2 residuo

SEAC ha fatto inoltre testare le proprie full-face mask ad un laboratorio indipendente ed ecco i risultati:

Nei laboratori SEAC i lotti di full-face mask vengono testati con macchinari Ansti per la misurazione delle performance dinamiche della respirazione umana e con apparecchiature specifiche SEAC per il controllo del livello di CO2.

Security controls on the SEAC full-face masks

SEAC abides by two fundamental principles in designing its full-face snorkeling masks:

- the user should need to employ the least possible breathing effort, comparable to natural breathing, out of the water and in a relaxing situation;
- and the level of residual carbon dioxide CO2 inside the skirt while inhaling must be well below the safety limits.

Even though there is no specific European regulation governing the manufacture of full-face snorkeling masks, SEAC has developed a series of specific tests that comply with the values set forth by the following European regulations:

- EN 1972:2015 establishes the requirements for the design and manufacture of snorkel tubes, limited to breathing effort;
- EN 16805:2015 establishes the requirements for the design and manufacture of dive masks;
- EN 136:2000 establishes the minimum requirements for the manufacture of full-face respiratory protection masks, limited to tests checking the CO2 in inhaled air;
- EN 250:2014 regarding open-circuit compressed-air self-contained breathing apparatus and its components, limited to tests checking the CO2 in inhaled air, related to the full face masks or oro-nasal half masks for SCUBA diving.

The ITALCERT test report on the residual CO2 content

SEAC had its full-face masks also tested by a third-party laboratory. Please see the results below:

In the SEAC labs, batches of full-face masks are tested with Ansti machines, specifically to measure the dynamic performance of human breathing, and with specific SEAC equipment to check levels of CO2 in the air inhaled through the masks.

Controles de seguridad para las máscaras integrales SEAC

SEAC sigue dos principios fundamentales en el diseño de sus máscaras de snorkeling integrales, las llamadas máscaras integrales:

- El esfuerzo respiratorio ejercido por el usuario debe ser el mínimo posible, comparable con el esfuerzo natural fuera del agua;
- El nivel de CO2 residual en el interior del faldón durante la fase de inspiración debe estar bien por debajo de los límites de seguridad.

Al no existir todavía una normativa europea, SEAC ha desarrollado una serie de pruebas específicas respetando los valores previstos por las siguientes normativas europeas:

- EN 1972:2015 establece los requisitos para el diseño y la producción de tubos de snorkeling, en concreto los esfuerzos respiratorios;
- EN 16805:2015 establece los requisitos para el diseño y la producción de máscaras de submarinismo;
- EN 136:2000 establece los requisitos mínimos para la producción de máscaras integrales de protección respiratoria, en concreto las pruebas de control de CO2 en el aire inspirado;
- EN 250:2014 relativa a los aparatos de respiración autónoma de uso submarino de circuito abierto y de aire comprimido y a sus componentes, en concreto las pruebas de control de CO2 en el aire inspirado y relativa a las máscaras integrales y medias máscaras para submarinismo.

Informe de prueba ITALCERT sobre el contenido de CO2 residual

SEAC también ha sometido a prueba sus máscaras integrales en un laboratorio independiente y estos son los resultados:

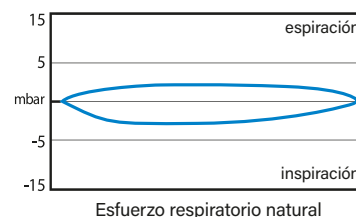

Valores límite de contenido de CO2 en las máscaras integrales SEAC (resultados de la prueba con 25 RPM/2,5 l)

CO2-IR	CH1
5,00	%VOL
CO2-IR	CH2

CO2-IR	CH1
5,00	%VOL

En los laboratorios SEAC, los lotes de máscaras integrales se someten a prueba con maquinaria Ansti para las mediciones del rendimiento dinámico de la respiración humana y con aparatos específicos SEAC para el control del nivel de CO2.

Contrôles de sécurité sur le masque facial complet SEAC

SEAC suit deux principes fondamentaux pour la conception de ses masques intégraux pour la randonnée palmée, les soi-disant masques faciaux complets :

- l'effort respiratoire de l'utilisateur doit être aussi réduit que possible, comparable à l'effort naturel hors de l'eau et dans une situation de repos ;
- le niveau d'anhydride carbonique CO<sub>2</sub> résiduel dans le masque pendant la phase d'inspiration doit être très inférieur aux limites de sécurité.

Bien qu'il n'y ait pas encore de norme européenne spécifique qui régit la production des masques intégraux pour la randonnée palmée, SEAC a développé une série de tests spécifiques en suivant les valeurs prévues par les normes européennes suivantes :

- La norme EN 1972:2015 définit les exigences pour la conception et la production de tubas, limitativement aux efforts respiratoires ;
- La norme EN 16805:2015 définit les exigences pour la conception et la production de masques de plongée ;
- La norme EN 136:2000 définit les exigences minimales pour la production de masques de protection respiratoire complets, limitativement aux tests de contrôle du CO<sub>2</sub> dans l'air inspiré ;
- La norme EN 250:2014 relative aux recycleurs pour la plongée en circuit ouvert à air comprimé et leurs composants, limitativement aux tests de contrôle du CO<sub>2</sub> dans l'air inspiré et relative aux masques complets et demi-masques pour la plongée.

le rapport d'essai ITALCERT sur la teneur de CO<sub>2</sub> résiduelle

SEAC a également fait tester ses masques complets par un laboratoire indépendant, dont voici les résultats :

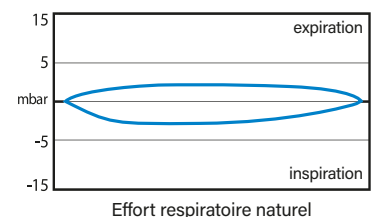

Valeurs limites de teneur en CO<sub>2</sub> sur le SEAC complet (résultats du test avec 25 RPM/2,5 l)

CO <sub>2</sub> -IR	CH1

0,7	%VOL

Dans les laboratoires SEAC les lots de masques complets sont testés avec des machines Ansti spécifiques pour la mesure des performances dynamiques de la respiration humaine et avec des appareils spécifiques SEAC pour le contrôle du niveau de CO<sub>2</sub>.

Sicherheitskontrollen für SEAC-Vollgesichtsmasken.

SEAC hat für den Entwurf seiner Vollgesichts-Schnorchelmaske, der so genannten full-face mask, zwei wesentliche Prinzipien verfolgt:

- Die Atemanstrengung von seiten des Benutzers muss so gering wie möglich ausfallen, mit dem natürlichen Luft holen an Land und in erholsamen Momenten vergleichbar;
- In der Einatemphase muss der verbleibende Kohlendioxid-Anteil (CO<sub>2</sub>) innerhalb der Maske weit unterhalb der Sicherheitsgrenzwerte liegen.

Obwohl es bislang noch keine spezifische europäische Regelung für die Herstellung von Vollgesichts-Schnorchelmasken gibt, wurde von SEAC eine Reihe spezifischer Tests entwickelt, bei denen die von folgenden Richtlinien vorgesehenen Werte eingehalten werden:

- EN 1972:2015 legt die Anforderungen für den Entwurf und die Herstellung von Schnorchelrohren in Bezug auf die Atemanstrengung fest;
- EN 16805:2015 legt die Anforderungen für den Entwurf und die Herstellung von Tauchmasken fest;
- EN 136:2000 legt die Mindestanforderungen für die Herstellung von Atemschutzmasken in Bezug auf die Tests der CO<sub>2</sub>-Kontrolle in der eingeatmeten Luft fest;
- EN 250:2014 in Bezug auf autonome Leichttauchgeräte mit Druckluft und ihrer Komponenten in Bezug auf die Tests der CO<sub>2</sub>-Kontrolle in der eingeatmeten Luft und auf full-face-Masken und Halbgesichtsmasken zum Tauchen.

Der Prüfbericht ITALCERT über den verbleibenden CO<sub>2</sub>-Gehalt.

SEAC ließ seine Vollgesichtsmasken außerdem von einem unabhängigen Labor testen, hier die Ergebnisse:

In den SEAC-Labors werden die Partien mit Vollgesichtsmasken mit spezifischen Ansti-Geräten zur Messung der dynamischen Leistung der menschlichen Atmung und mit spezifischen SEAC-Geräten für die Kontrolle des in der mit Tauchmasken eingeatmeten Luft vorhandenen CO<sub>2</sub>-Gehalts getestet.
